About IRCAMTECH

With the rapid advancement and development in Railway technology, the need for having dedicated and specialized institute to upgrade Indian Railways capability in maintenance of its Assets has been in consideration for long time.

In 1987,Railway Board decided to set up an Institute to undertake and evolve strategies for maintenance of all types of assets.

This Institute was named as Indian Railway centre for Maintenance of Advanced Technologies (IRCAMTECH or short name as CAMTECH) and started functioning from 1991 onwards at Gwalior. Initially CAMTECH worked as attached office of Railway Board and in 1992, CAMTECH was worked under the administrative control of Director General, RDSO, Lucknow, now presently CAMTCH is working under Administrative control of Railway Board through E&R department.

Activities of CAMTECH

CAMTECH is involved in development and publication of Maintenance Manuals, Handbooks, Reports, and Pamphlets on maintenance of Railway Assets of all the four technical departments of Indian Railways i.e. Civil, Electrical, Mechanical and Signal & Telecom.

Training to Railway Officers, Supervisors and staff is also imparted through Technical Seminars on maintenance of Railway assets (Skill Development.)

Organization of CAMTECH

Camtech is headed by Principal Executive Director who is assisted by four Directors-one each of civil, Electrical, Mechanical and S&T, apart from Staff.

CAMTECH has multidisciplinary team of officers and technical Supervisors from all the four technical departments viz. Civil, Electrical, Mechanical, S&T along with supporting departments like Accounts, personnel, General Administration, CAMTECH is also equipped with Library, Computer Centre, Documentation Centre and Hostel facilities.
